Rio Grande Mexican Restaurant	1525 Blake St, Denver, CO 80202	(303) 623-5432	Everyone needs a healthy escape every now and then. The Rio was built on the simple promise of providing that little bit of sanctuary -- any time you need it. It all began in 1986, when the town of Fort Collins was hungry for some delicious Mexican food and really thirsty for a decent margarita. Three guys from the Texas Gulf Coast heard them loud and clear, and started serving up something special. And that tradition continues today with six great Colorado locations (seven, including Coors Field!) - each offering a flavor all its own.	Mexican	https://www.riograndemexican.com/
Tamayo	1400 Larimer St, Denver, CO 80202	(720) 946-1433	TAMAYO DENVER Carefully crafted, yet bold flavored. Rooted in tradition, yet adventuring into contemporary tastes. Chef Richard Sandoval blends the earthy flavors of his native Mexico with worldly ingredients and creative cooking techniques to create the Modern Mexican Cuisine at Tamayo. With a collection of over 100 tequilas and agave-based spirits, we invite you to sip them slowly as the locals would, or drink them in our hand-muddled cocktails. The Palm Denver	1672 Lawrence Street, Denver, CO 80202	(303) 825-7256	At The Palm, our philosophy is simple: Treat guests like family, serve great food, and always exceed expectations. That philosophy was born in 1926, when Pio Bozzi and John Ganzi opened the first Palm in New York City. From day one, Pio and John shared their commitment to quality and generosity of spirit with every guest who walked through their doors. What began as a restaurant became a legend -- a place to not only enjoy an excellent meal but also catch up with old friends, meet new ones, close business deals, and celebrate family milestones. Still owned and operated by members of the Bozzi and Ganzi families, The Palm continues to serve as a second home for countless patrons, thanks to the exceptional standard of hospitality established by our founders.
