

NEW HORIZONS
IN INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION

NAFSA
2015

Annual Conference
& Expo

MAY 24-29, 2015

Education, Law & Development: Why Language Matters

Kate Jastram

University of California, Berkeley

School of Law

Overview

1. What are we talking about when we talk about human rights?
2. Will law schools lead or follow?
3. What should we strive for?

1. Talking about human rights

A. If human rights violations are the problem, what is the solution?

1. Still talking about human rights

B. What do the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) add to the conversation?

2. Will law schools lead or follow?

A. Selective U.S. engagement with international law and institutions

2. Will law schools lead or follow?

B. U.S. legal education in turmoil

2. Will law schools lead or follow?

C. Studying international law:
luxury or necessity?

3. What should we strive for?

A. Meeting the needs of our diverse students

3. What should we strive for?

B. Global legal literacy

3. What should we strive for?

C. Human rights and sustainable development