

Publications

FOR THE SECOND STRAIGHT YEAR, International Educator invited publishers in the field to provide brief descriptions of their books and other materials so that our readers could have a helpful resource for the upcoming fall semester and beyond. Below you will find a listing—alphabetical by publisher—of all of the submitted publications. Each publisher’s section includes contact information to allow you to get more information or to order their wares. A selection of NAFSA’s own publications are included here and there is a more complete listing in the catalog that is included with this issue.

American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers (AACRAO)

www.aacrao.org

Phone: 202.263.0292

Bogus Institutions and Documents

This volume is designed as a guidebook to give you the information and tools that you need in order to face and fight the complex battle against bogus institutions and degree fraud. This book will inform you about the issues, help you to learn techniques to detect bogus institutions and documents, offer guidelines in handling cases of fraud, help you to prevent your institution or organization from becoming a victim of fraud, and give you confidence in discussing all of these issues with colleagues and superiors.

Foreign Educational Credentials Required

Looking for a concise and easily referenced source for information on credentials and other documentation that would be required for entry from a given country to a specified level of study? The fifth edition of Foreign Educational Credentials indicates, in a convenient and consistent form, the educational credentials which should be available for applicants from more than 200 countries.

The AACRAO International Graduate Admissions Guide

A companion to The AACRAO International Guide: A Resource for International Educational Professionals, this volume provides a hands-on approach to enable you to determine the admissibility of applicants from abroad to your graduate degree and non-degree programs.

Australia: Education and Training (Country Studies Series)

A guide for United States admissions officers to the structure and content of the educational system of Australia, including descriptions of the state and territorial public school systems. Also includes a formal set of comparability and placement recommendations based upon the author’s research.

Brazil (Country Studies Series)

A study of the structure and content of the educational system of Brazil, including extensive descriptions of undergraduate and technical programs. Also includes specific regional and country-wide statistics, and the author’s recommendations on the evaluation of foreign educational credentials.

for International Educators and Their Students

Taiwan (Country Studies Series)
An extensive guide to the structure and content of the educational system of Taiwan, from kindergarten through graduate and professional studies. Includes detailed information about schools recognized and not recognized by the Ministry of Education, a vital guide for any admissions officer considering incoming students from Taiwan.

The Educational System of the United Kingdom (Country Studies Series)

A guide for United States admissions officers to the structure and content of the educational system of the United Kingdom.

American Council on Education (ACE)

www.acenet.edu/bookstore/

Phone: 301.632.6757

Building a Strategic Framework for Comprehensive Internationalization

Christa L. Olson, Madeleine F. Green, and Barbara A. Hill

First in a series of working papers on internationalization and funded with generous support from the Ford Foundation, this essay outlines two complementary approaches to internationalization as part of an institutional strategy and illustrates how these approaches can be used together in an integrated manner. 2005.

Where Faculty Live: Internationalizing the Disciplines

Madeleine F. Green and Robert Shoenberg

This essay, the second in the Global Learning for All series, grows out of an ACE project funded by the Carnegie Corporation of New York. The essay highlights the role of national disciplinary associations in promoting internationalization of the disciplines and outlines how global learning outcomes can provide useful tools for faculty. 2006.

Internationalization in U.S. Higher Education: The Student Perspective

This report, which draws on earlier research conducted by ACE on the internationalization of U.S. colleges and universities, focuses on student experiences and beliefs regarding international education at “highly active” institutions. Funded by the U.S. Department of Education, the report also describes differences between students from highly active institutions and those from less active institutions, when such differences are notable. 2005.

Measuring Internationalization (series of four publications)

Madeleine F. Green

This series examines the responses colleges and universities gave to a 2001 institutional survey conducted by ACE. Each publication covers one sector of the higher education community: liberal arts colleges, comprehensive universities, community colleges, or research universities, and expands on the findings presented in the 2003 ACE report titled Mapping Internationalization on U.S. Campuses. 2005.

American Immigration Lawyers Association (AILA)

www.ailapubs.org

Toll free: 1.800.982.2839

Immigration Options for Academics and Researchers
Analytical tools for successfully obtaining work visas and Green Cards for the higher education community. Written and edited by leading immigration practitioners and international educators, Academics and Researchers is an excellent companion to your foreign student advisers' manual. It provides temporary and permanent options for professors and researchers, guidance on security issues and travel risks in academia, and more. Table of contents is available at the AILA Web site.

Essentials of Immigration Law

Get practical explanations of this often-confusing and contradictory area of law. Essentials of Immigration Law provides the foundation necessary for a basic understanding of everything immigration—from the passage of the first immigration-related statute to the current state of affairs under the 2006 laws and amendments. This “easy read” will help you understand citizenship/naturalization, processing of visas at U.S. consulates and embassies, as well as student and work visas. Table of contents is available at the AILA Web site.

Immigration Law Today

With a subscription to AILA's bimonthly journal, you'll receive updates on the latest developments in the challenging field of immigration law. Immigration Law Today provides in-depth coverage and cutting-edge analysis as well as practical advice and updates on events affecting this area of law. If you'd like a sample issue of Immigration of Law Today, please contact us at pubs@aila.org and reference IEIL06 in your request.

The College Board

http://store.collegeboard.com

Toll free: 1.800.323.7155 (credit only)

International: 1.212.713.8260

Directory of Overseas Educational Advising Centers (2006 CD-ROM)

The most current list of overseas centers in the EducationUSA advising network, published by the College Board in cooperation with the U.S. Department of State. Detailed contact information for over 450 centers in 170+ countries includes international and APO/pouch addresses, e-mail, Web sites, telephone and fax numbers. Other features include top academic fields of interest, type and level of study programs sought, services provided to college recruiters, and more. Centers indexed by country and city for easy reference. Mailing labels are available separately.

College Board International Student Handbook 2007

This unique directory is designed expressly for students from outside the United States. It supplements the College Handbook by focusing on U.S. college information of particular relevance to international students, such as scholarship aid, English proficiency requirements, housing and services (ESL, orientation) for international students. Includes articles on how and when to apply for admission, and tables of information from more than 2,000 institutions. Available both in print and as a downloadable PDF.

College Board College Handbook 2007

This is the only guide that profiles all 3,600 accredited colleges, universities, community colleges, and technical schools in the United States. It gives a complete overview of academic offerings, class sizes, athletics, and student life at each school. Forty indexes help students find and compare schools by key features.

Book of Majors, Second Edition

Choosing a college major is simplified with this guide, useful for students and career counselors. Completely updated for 2007, this book describes more than 190 majors in detail—including 10 new ones. It also provides a list of 900 majors and graduate programs that shows students which universities offer each major listed, and at what degree level.

The Official SAT Study Guide

Help prepare students for the SAT with the only book that features practice tests created by the test maker. The book features 21 chapters that describe each test component, review concepts and test-taking approaches, and offer suggestions to get ready. Eight full-length tests are included, with additional practice questions for the critical reading, writing and math sections plus practice essay questions, sample essays, exercises and the essay scoring guide.

The Official SAT Teacher's Guide

This tool from the SAT test maker helps teachers highlight skills in the classroom or create a comprehensive SAT preparation course. Nineteen clearly organized and focused lessons include topic overviews, student activities and handouts, and sample test items, with linked reference for student use to materials in both the Official SAT Online Course and the Official SAT Study Guide.

Institute of International Education (IIE)

www.iiebooks.org

Phone: 1.412.741.0930

Open Doors 2005: Report on International Educational Exchange

Open Doors 2005 provides a comprehensive statistical analysis of academic mobility between the United States and the nations of the world. Open Doors features graphic displays, especially data maps, tables, figures and to-the-point policy-oriented analysis. A complete set of tables in this book is the essential resource for those concerned with the explosive growth in the worldwide movement of students around the globe. February 2006.

Open Doors 1948-2004 CD-Rom

This new CD-Rom includes every issue of the Open Doors report published from 1948-2004. Each issue is presented in its original form in fully searchable Adobe Acrobat files. Open Doors is a comprehensive statistical portrait of international students and scholars in the United States, U.S. students studying abroad, and intensive English language program activity in the United States. April 2005.

Funding for United States Study: A Guide for International Students and Professionals 2006-2007

Features detailed descriptions of fellowships, grants, scholarships and paid internships for international undergraduate and graduate students, and working professionals. Sponsors are U.S. and foreign governments, colleges and universities and other organizations. Fall 2006.

Funding for United States Study: A Scholarship Guide for Europeans

In this helpful directory, European students and graduates will find detailed information on over 200 scholarships, grants and fellowships available to Europeans for undergraduate and graduate study, and doctoral and post-doctoral research in the United States. The guide also provides articles on financial assistance and university funding options and a list of U.S. educational counseling centers in Europe where students can go to further research university and funding opportunities. May 2005.

Funding U.S. Studies: Graduate and Postgraduate Opportunities for Latin Americans

This reference book is designed to be a descriptive survey of financial assistance for prospective students from Latin America and the Caribbean interested in graduate-level study and research in the United States. Students and graduates will find information on funding for graduate study, doctoral and post-doctoral research, and work-study grants available through foundation and institution scholarship programs and institutional grant opportunities, and more. 2004.

Intensive English USA 2006

The most comprehensive reference book for over 500 accredited intensive English programs in the U.S. The directory lists IEP proficiency levels taught, dates, costs, instructional facilities and faculty, student services, eligibility and admissions, contact addresses, phone, fax, e-mail, and much more. The 2006 Edition of Intensive English USA includes a fully searchable CD-Rom. June 2006.

IIEPassport: Academic Year Abroad 2006–2007

As a complete guide to planning academic year study abroad, this publication includes over 3,400 semester and academic-year programs offered by U.S. and foreign universities and private organizations. It provides key information on application requirements, academic credit, program contact information, language of instruction, housing, travel and orientation. The publication contains comprehensive indexes on costs, fields of study, and special learning opportunities. There is an introductory section on planning international study. January 2006.

IIEPassport: Short-Term Study Abroad 2006-2007

The most comprehensive reference directory on short-term study abroad programs ranging from summer and January study to two-week study tour and language immersion courses, with over programs for students, teachers and adult learners. Over 3,000 programs offered by US and foreign universities, schools, and other organizations—in Western and Eastern Europe, Asia, Africa, the Middle East, Oceania, and the Western Hemisphere. January 2006.

IIENetwork Membership Directory 2006

The new IIENetwork Membership Directory lists contact information for over 3,500 professionals at higher education institutions around the world who are active participants in international educational exchange.

The directory also serves as reference as you plan your international programs and includes an overview of IIENetwork services, and information about fellowships, scholarships and hosting opportunities for students, scholars, educators and campuses.

International Partnership for Service Learning

www.ipsl.org

Phone: 1.212.986.0989

Charting a Hero's Journey

By Linda A. Chisholm

Based on the work of Joseph Campbell and using excerpts from the journals of such people as Jane Addams, Langston Hughes, Octavio Paz, Samuel Johnson, Mary Kingsley, and Kathleen Norris, this book is a guide to the writing of a journal for college students engaged in study abroad, off-campus study, and/or service-learning.

Service-Learning Across Cultures: Promise and Achievement

Edited by Humphrey Tonkin

Funded by the Ford Foundation, this book explores the effects of international service-learning on the students who participate, the institutions where they study, and the agencies where they perform their service. It demonstrates that international service-learning is a transforming experience for all concerned, and a means through which we can create citizens and individuals responsive to the needs of others, civically engaged, and prepared for a peaceful future based on the globalization of compassion, tolerance, and understanding.

Understanding the Education— And Through It the Culture— in Education Abroad

By Linda A. Chisholm and Howard A. Berry

Based on the premise that an educational system both reflects and shapes a culture, this short book is a guide for students going abroad to study. It leads them step-by-step through an in-depth investigation of the university they attend overseas and higher education in their host country, helping them both to be a successful student and to come to a deeper knowledge of their host culture.

Visions of Service

Edited by Linda A. Chisholm

This book introduces students to five of the world's great religions—Hinduism, Buddhism, Judaism, Christianity, and Islam—with a special emphasis on each religion's philosophy of service and call to serve. With excerpts regarding service and social responsibility from the sacred writings of each tradition, followed by questions for study and reflection, Visions of Service gives students a framework for considering the differences and commonalities among the religions on the subject of serving those in need.

Knowing and Doing: The Theory and Practice of Service-Learning

Edited by Linda A. Chisholm

A Festschrift written by colleagues around the world in honor of Howard A. Berry, this book is a collection of essays about service-learning together with a selection of Berry's speeches and papers.

A sophisticated collection of writings about international education in general and service-learning in particular, Knowing and Doing illuminates the power of service-learning and gives testimony to the conviction of many that this pedagogy will have an enduring and transforming effect on higher education around the world.

NAFSA: Association of International Educators

www.nafsa.org/publications

Toll free: 1.866.538.1927

International: 1.240.646.7036

A few highlighted publications are listed here. For a more complete inventory of NAFSA publications, see the catalog included with this issue of International Educator.

Get Ready, Get Set, Go! Fund Your Study Abroad

Many potential education abroad participants are unaware that the same sources of financial aid that pay for studying here in the United States can be tapped for studying abroad. This concise brochure can help students ask the right questions and make informed decisions as they seek funding for education abroad. Development was underwritten by American Institute For Foreign Study (AIFS) and Cultural Insurance Services International (CISI), NAFSA Global Partners. 2006. (Sold in packs of 50)

Easy Planning Guide for Good Health Abroad

This brochure is an easy, multi-step guide to help students make sure from beginning to end that health issues—new or existing—don't get in the way of learning as much as they can and enjoying themselves while doing it. It covers the 'who, why, where, what, how, and when' of planning for good health abroad. Development was underwritten by T.W. Lord & Associates, a NAFSA Global Partner. 2006. (Sold in packs of 50)

NAFSA's Guide to Education Abroad for Advisers and Administrators, Third Edition

Substantially revised and expanded, this new edition of the Guide has notably enhanced a book that was already regarded as indispensable by education abroad professionals. Extensive new chapters on such topics as short-term programs, intercultural learning, underrepresented constituencies, and community colleges have been added. A significant new section of three chapters deals with issues specific to overseas program direction. 2005.

U.S. Culture Series: U.S. Classroom Culture

This resource is the perfect orientation tool for your international students. Written by Michael Smithee, Sidney L. Greenblatt, and Alisa Eland, this publication guides international students through the culture of U.S. college classrooms by addressing a variety of topics including an overview of U.S. higher education, its academic structure and faculty roles, and the classroom itself. Development was underwritten by the United States Department of State, Educational Information and Resources Branch. 2004. (Sold in packs of 40)

U.S. Culture Series: Introduction to American Life

This publication is designed to be used in preparing students for successful cultural adjustment and is a must-have for your orientation. Writers Lanie Denslow, Mary Tinkham, and Patricia Willer address the U.S. concepts of time, communication, status and hierarchy, protections and restrictions in rule of law, regional differences across the United States, and building connections with family and friends. Development was underwritten by the United States Department of State, Educational Information and Resources Branch. 2004. (Sold in packs of 40)

Immigration Classifications and Legal Employment of Foreign Nationals in the United States (poster)

This essential poster describes each immigrant and nonimmigrant classification and provides explicit information on employment eligibility and study options of visa holders in that category. The poster was updated to reflect statutory and regulatory changes effective as of November 2005. (Sold individually and in bundles of 5)

NAFSA Adviser's Manual Subscription Service

The trusted source of information for professionals in the field of international education immigration advising for forty years, the Manual offers features like quick-reference tables, checklists, practice and discussion notes, and citations to law and authority, all clearly marked and easy to find. The subscription includes the full Manual for 2006 (fully updated in May), a quarterly newsletter, and access to a companion Web site that is continually updated.

10 Years of Academic Research Excellence

NAFSA congratulates the Association for Studies in International Education (ASIE) on the tenth anniversary of the Journal of Studies in International Education.

www.nafsa.org/publications

International Educator magazine now carries a synopsis of the current research topics in each quarterly issue of the Journal. NAFSA members can order a full volume year subscription to this outstanding source of peer-reviewed analytical, historical, and experimental research in the field of international education at the discounted price of $20. Contact publications@nafsa.org for information on subscribing.

