

STUDENT DIPLOMAT

video contest 2009

Do YOU want to become the next Student Diplomat + win $300?

NAFSA: Association of International Educators and Abroad View are hosting a video contest to give you the opportunity to show how your study abroad experience has helped advance global understanding.

Tell us your story.

LIFTING YOUR VISION How has your study abroad experience shaped you as a global citizen?

BUILDING LASTING CONNECTIONS In what way did your study abroad experience serve as a bridge to cross-cultural understanding?

PROMOTING PEACE Did your interactions abroad correct any misperceptions about the United States and/or Americans?

ENGAGING THE WORLD How has your experience benefited the local community in which you studied?

*Creativity is encouraged. Please use specific examples to illustrate your point(s).

ELIGIBILITY: The Student Diplomat Video Contest is open to individuals who have had an undergraduate study abroad experience, whether they are currently enrolled through an accredited college or university or have studied abroad since spring 2005. TERMS: All videos entered into the contest will become the property of Abroad View and NAFSA: Association of International Educators, and may be used by both organizations (full terms available online). The winner will be awarded a cash prize of $300. GUIDELINES: Videos must be between 1-3 minutes. The deadline for entries is 11:59 p.m. EDT, November 6, 2009. Earlier submissions are welcome, as they will be reviewed on a rolling basis. All videos must be submitted to the contest using the official entry form at www.nafsa.org/studentdiplomat. If you need further direction on how to create your video or have general questions, please visit www.nafsa.org/studentdiplomat.
